

PIE87

87. Are You Open to Open Educational Resources (OER) and Open Pedagogy?

Jon Skalski, Brigham Young University - Idaho

Are you familiar with the vast and growing array of open educational resources in psychology and in your area of expertise?

Are you tiring of disposable assignments like research papers and considering assignments and projects that add value to the world in lasting ways?

Are you familiar with examples of open pedagogy?